Art.59. Legitimate children. - (1) Children conceived in lawful wedlock be presumed to be legitimate. Whoever claims illegitimacy of or impugns filiation must prove his allegation.

(2) Children born after six months following the consummation of marriage or with two years after the dissolution of the marriage shall be presumed to be legitimate. Against this presumption no evidence shall be admitted other than that of the physical impossibility of access between the parents at or about the time of the conception of the child.

Art. 60. Children of subsequent marriage. - Should the marriage be dissolved and the wife contracts another marriage after the expiration of her 'idda, the child born within six months from the dissolution of the prior marriage shall be presumed to have been conceived during the former marriage, and if born thereafter, during the later [sic].

Art. 61. Pregnancy after dissolution. - If, after the dissolution of marriage, the wife believes that she is pregnant by her former husband, she shall, within thirty days from the time she became aware of her pregnancy, notify the former husband or his heirs of that fact. The husband or his heirs may ask the court to take measures to prevent a simulation of birth.

Art. 62. Rights of legitimate child. - A legitimate child shall have the right:

(a) To bear the surnames of the father and of the mother;

(b) To receive support from the father or, in his default, from his heirs in accordance with Articles 65 and 68; and

(c) To share in the legitime (furud) and other successional [sic] rights which this Code recognizes in his favor.

Art. 63. Acknowledgment by father. Acknowledgment (igrar) of a child by the father shall establish paternity and confer upon each the right to inherit from the other exclusively in accordance with Article 94, provided the following conditions are complied with:

(a) The acknowledgment is manifested by the father's acceptance in public that he is the father of the child who does not impugn it; and

(b) The relation does not appear impossible by reason of disparity in age

Art. 64. Adoption. - No adoption in any form shall confer upon any person the status and rights of a legitimate child under Muslim law, except that said person may receive a gift (biha).

TITLE IV. SUPPORT (NAFAQA)

Art. 65. Support defined. - Support (nafaqa) includes everything that is indispensable for sustenance, dwelling, clothing and medical attendance according to the social standing of the person obliged to give it, and the education of the person entitled to the support until he completes his education, training or vocation even beyond the age of majority.

Art. 66, Amount. - The amount of support shall be in proportion to the resources of the giver and to the needs of the recipient.

Art. 67. Support for wife and infant. - (1) The wife shall be entitled to support during the marriage. In casts of divorce (tala-g) her right shall be extended up to the expiration or the 'idda, However, in case the wife is pregnant at the time of the separation, she shall be entitled to support until delivery.

(2) Any divorced nursing mother who continues to breastfed [sic] her child for two years shall be entitled to support until the time of weaning.

Art. 68, Support between ascendants and descendants. - The ascendants and descendants shall be obliged to support each other in the order in which they are called to succeed by intestacy the person who has a right to claim support.

Am 69. Payment. - (1) The obligation to support shall be demandable [sic] from the time the recipient needs it for maintenance, but it shall not be paid except from the date it is extrajudicially demanded.

(2) Payment shall be made daily, weekly or monthly in advance, and when the recipient died, his heirs shall not be obliged to return what he had received in advance.

(3) If the recipient is the wife, the rule established in the foregoing paragraph shall apply even though the marriage is dissolved.

Art. 70. Extinguishment of support. - The obligation to support shall cease:

(a) Upon the death of the recipient;

(b) when the resources of the obligor have been so reduced that he cannot give the support without neglecting his own needs and those of his family, except that in the case of the spouses, the husband, though needy, is obliged to support the wife; or

(c) When the recipient commits any act which would give rise to disqualification to inherit or denial of support under Muslim laws.

TITLE V. PARENTAL AUTHORITY

Chapter One NATURE AND EFFECTS

Art. 71. Who exercises. - (1) The father and the mother shall jointly exercise just and reasonable parental authority and fulfil their responsibility over their legitimate and acknowledged children. In case of disagreement, the father's decision shall prevail unless there is a judicial order to the contrary.
